LOS ANGELES – Academy Award-winning actor Jamie Foxx is credited with saving the life of a suspected drunk driver in California Monday.

The highway patrol says 32-year-old Brett Kyle was speeding and driving under the influence when he swerved off the road, hitting a drainage ditch, causing his truck to flip several times, resting right in front of Foxx's Hidden Valley mansion.

Foxx ran to the scene, pulling the man to safe

"I just kept watching it and going, 'My God, My God,'" Brad said. "He didn't have to do a thing."

Foxx says another driver, who happened to be an EMT, also stopped to help. The two men were able to cut the seatbelt and pull the suspected drunk driver from the burning wreck.

He also shared this powerful photo on social media of him hugging the victim's father Brad:

Met the father of the young man from last night today. This is all that matters. That a man, a son, a brother's life was spared last night. God had his arms wrapped around all of us...No heroes...Just happy fathers.
